With five miles of trails through different habitats including a freshwater lake,

CBEC is an outstanding destination for birding and bird photography. We are a hotspot for migratory warblers and shorebirds. Several active osprey nests (in season) are within viewing distance from blinds and observation platforms. Happy birding!

NOTES ON CBEC'S CHECKLIST OF BIRDS

- This list is based on ebird.org's list. Other birds (accidentals) have been sighted at CBEC, but are not included here.
- Resident birds and neotropicals are included.
- The list is arranged according to families as referenced in Sibley Birds East by David Allen Sibley (New York: Alfred A. Knopf, Second Edition, 2017).

COVER PHOTO

The photo of a Red Headed Woodpecker was provided by Adele Claggett. Visit her website (birding.pictures) to view her collection of birding photographs. Her website also offers insight into the best places at CBEC to see various birds and provides information on other local parks that are good for birdwatching.
